

We're hiring...

RACING EDITORIAL TEAM MEMBERS

About us

Quantum Leap Solutions are a small team of digital innovators who create transformational products for the horseracing industry. Consisting principally of former senior Racing Post staff we have built a reputation within our sector for groundbreaking and disruptive products working with a growing portfolio of clients ranging from Racecourse Media Group, Press Association, Playtech and the major bookmakers.

Description

We are looking to increase the size of our editorial team and opportunities exist to join in either a full or part-time capacity, working freelance or as a member of staff. Specifics of the role will be tailored based on the candidate's experience, but successful applicants will need to display:

- In-depth knowledge of horseracing
- First-class race analysis skills
- A high standard of written English
- Good level of numeracy
- Excellent attention to detail
- Motivated self starter

The roles are appropriate for both younger applicants such as graduates wishing to pursue a career in horseracing, and equally, more mature applicants looking for an opportunity that offers flexibility. Candidates should expect to work from home as part of a passionate and committed team.

Interested?

Please contact Ian Heaney ian@quantumleapsolutions.co.uk to discuss the opportunities in more detail. More information about Quantum Leap Solutions can be found at www.quantumleapsolutionslimited.co.uk